SCOTT GILBERT

News Director, WITF-FM 89.5
Host, Radio Smart Talk

Scott Gilbert, a native of Hummelstown, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mass Communications from James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Virginia. He came to WITF in March of 2003 after working for Associated Press Radio in Washington, D.C. Among the jobs he held at AP were network anchor, desk supervisor and wire editor. Prior to his employment with AP, Scott served as program director at WKOK-AM in Sunbury, PA. He was hired there to lead the heritage station as it transitioned from a music-intensive format to a news/sports format. Scott and the other members of the WKOK news staff were recognized by The Associated Press with the "Joe Snyder Award for Outstanding News Service" for three consecutive years. Having worked at both the network and local levels, Scott says he feels most comfortable with the latter because he enjoys being part of a station such as WITF that's such a community institution. His career also includes stints as a morning show producer, anchor/reporter, traffic reporter and disc jockey. Scott and his wife Lori, a teacher, live outside Camp Hill with their son Isaac. In his spare time, Scott plays oboe with the Hershey Symphony Orchestra.
