

HIGHLIGHTS

FRED VIGEANT

Vice President &
Chief Audience Officer

As 2023 concludes, I'm grateful for your on-going support. You make what we do possible.

Every program you appreciate watching on WITF is made possible in part thanks to your on-going support of programs like Nature, FRONTLINE, Antiques Roadshow and MASTERPIECE.

Thank you! I hope you join us in 2024 for another year of fantastic programming.

One of the pleasant surprises this year was the return of Doc Martin to the schedule. We introduced this series back in the fall of 2012. It quickly grew popular with viewers and continued to be a mainstay for many years.

The seasons got a little far and few between recently due to some rights issues, but here we are. We wrapped up the premiere of season 9 at the end of October and look forward to the premiere of season 10 next month.

Currently, seasons 8 through 10 are available for you to stream on-demand through WITF Passport.

Martin Clunes said that season 10 of Doc Martin is the end of this comedy/drama series. Of course, he had been saying that all the way back at the conclusion of season 5, but I think he really means it this time.

Looking into the new year, we will see what other comedies, dramas and mysteries we can add to our schedule, thanks to our production partners overseas, that will capture your interest as much as Doc Martin has.

As is somewhat typical for December, we don't have a lot of new programming. There are a number of Christmas specials scattered throughout the schedule. Some are new or annual updates, and some are perennial favorites. There are too many to list, but I'll draw attention to one from our colleagues

TEST KITCHEN

HOME for the HOLIDAYS

America's Test Kitchen Special: Home for the Holidays
 Saturday, December 16 at 12:30p & Friday, December 22 at 1p

at WHYY in Philadelphia, Westminster Choir College presents An Evening of Readings and Carols.

The program features more than 400 musicians in five different choirs. Together with a number of secular readings, the evening brings beauty and comfort to you at this special time of year. Catch this WHYY special on December 21 or Christmas Eve at 9pm.

Looking ahead to January 7, we have a double bill of season four premieres from two popular MASTERPIECE titles.

First up, at 8pm, is the British crime drama, Miss Scarlet and The Duke followed by the ever popular drama, All Creatures Great and Small at 9pm.

It's a solid winter MASTERPIECE line-up on WITF TV and the PBS app. You can revisit both series now on WITF Passport, or catch reruns of season 3 episodes from both series on Saturday and Sunday nights throughout December on WITF TV.

One final note is to look forward to a new season of Finding Your Roots. The personal history series from Henry Louis Gates, Jr. returns to its regular Tuesday slot beginning in January with new episodes stretching all the way out to April.

We'll have some exciting news to share about this series next month. Stay tuned!
