HIGHLIGHTS

Fred Vigeant
Vice President & Chief Audience Officer

In recognition of Pride Month, WITF is highlighting the stories of individuals in the LGBTQ+ community for a deeper understanding and to provide a frame of context. You’ll find several specials focused on LGBTQ+ issues and communities throughout the month, including Out in Rural America.

Out in Rural America documents the joys and struggles of being lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and genderqueer in rural America. We’ll hear stories of self-doubt, discrimination, acceptance, and small-town LGBTQ+ life from a cultural, social, familial, and religious perspective. Watch it June 11 at 9pm on WITF TV or stream it using the PBS app.

We’re also introducing new episodes of Grantchester this summer. The ninth season will anchor Sunday nights at 9pm, beginning June 16. Tom Brittney returns for his final season as Reverend William Davenport.

Ahead of the premiere, be sure to check out the previous seasons on WITF Passport! You can go back to season one when Reverend Sidney Chambers was teaming up with DI Geordie Keating.

This month, we’re wrapping up a replay of season 10 of Finding Your Roots. If you missed the series finale, be sure to tune in for Viewers Like You on June 25 at 8pm, featuring a resident from Cumberland County! This is the first-ever episode of Finding Your Roots to feature viewers.

Throughout the summer, enjoy an encore of Finding Your Roots’ ninth season, which includes the personal histories of Julia Roberts, Carol Burnett, Jeh Johnson, and Van Jones.

The Great American Recipe returns for its third season on Monday nights beginning on June 17, directly following Antiques Roadshow. We’ll meet eight new home cooks from across the country — including one from Pittsburgh.

Each week, the home chefs will compete in two rounds of cooking, creating a dish specific to a theme and showcasing their culinary backgrounds, styles, techniques, and unique flavors.

Looking ahead, next month, A Capitol Fourth returns to its usual July 4th spot. We’ll replay the previous year’s celebration at 4pm along with other special programs throughout the day. I’ll have more details for you in next month’s guide.

One final scheduling note — we are phasing out PBS KIDS programming on Saturday mornings at the end of this month. You may have noticed that we phased out Sunday morning PBS KIDS programming in May and added more shows devoted to cooking, sewing, and crafts.

Most families are now choosing to stream PBS KIDS programming on-demand using the PBS KIDS app, or they are turning to the WITFK PBS KIDS 24/7 channel through cable, over the air, or streaming services. WITF and PBS remain committed to quality, educational programming.

Thanks for watching WITF and for your ongoing support. Enjoy your June!
