This month a multi-episode series on Nature explores parenthood. This series was filmed in 23 countries across six continents over the course of three years. Sir David Attenborough tells the stories of astonishing animal behaviors shaped by the environments they inhabit and the risks and rewards for parents. Each episode focuses on a different environment beginning with grasslands on February 4.

On February 9 we'll learn more about Bessie Coleman, an American icon and a testament to the resiliency of the human spirit. This new documentary chronicles the life of the first Black woman to earn an international pilot's license, a trailblazer who didn't just break the glass ceiling, she flew right through it. Bessie Coleman: Queen of the Skies, recounts her story and her lifelong mission to ensure that aviation is inclusive to everyone.

The latest season of Finding Your Roots premieres Tuesdays at 8pm. You can also enjoy Henry Louis Gates, Jr.'s latest documentary series, Black and Jewish America: An Interwoven History, on Tuesdays at 9pm. This four-part series explores the complex relationship forged in shared struggle, tested by division, and representing a uniquely American experience. While shared ideals of justice united Black and Jewish people, they were also divided by the realities of race in America. The series airs Tuesdays at 9pm, beginning February 3. You can also watch the complete series on WITF Passport.

Additional new episodes of The Brokenwood Mysteries arrive this month. We kick off season
